INTRODUCTION:

Welcome to the We Teach in China workshop presentation.

We are Charles and Gloria Juedemann and we are the directors of We Teach in China. We are here today to tell you about an exciting opportunity to teach in China this summer.

China:

The population of China is 1.3 billion people. That is 1 billion more people than we have in the US. Today China has more English speaking people than anywhere in the world. China is a business partner of the US and will continue to be in the forefront of our daily lives. Communication between our countries is extremely important and China recognizes that English is the key to clear understanding between our cultures.

Program:

In this program you will learn:

How you can put your skills to work and learn about the Chinese culture while working with Chinese English teachers. These students are Chinese teachers like you, who are teaching English to their students.

GOAL of the Program:

1. Help Chinese English teachers improve their ability to speak better English
2. Help Chinese English teachers improve their ability to listen to native English speakers

Many of these teachers have never met or talked with a foreign English speaking person

Timid

Shy about interactions with us

After the summer program has ended, the teachers return to their classrooms w/o anyone to practice speaking English. This program helps these teachers become more confident in their abilities to speak English and helps them improve their abilities to interact with their own students when teaching English.

Sponsor:

Program is the Jiangsu Teacher Training Program Jiangsu Depart of Ed in the Jiangsu Province of China

This depart of ed is much like our DESE Hires Native English speakers to teach conversational English during the summer to help their teachers improve their ability to speak English and listen to English speakers

Well planned

Safe

Provides guides and interpreters

What is it about?

This is a cultural/educational experience that will challenge your teaching skills and at the same time open your eyes to the country of China and her people.

It is a rewarding experience:

rich in culture exchanges,
educational opportunities,
new experiences that will awaken all of your senses,
and you will come home with friends half way around the world!

Through this program you will learn about this amazing culture and about the Chinese teachers who are helping their students learn to speak English. Chinese teachers struggle to teach English because they have learned English from other Chinese teachers who have limited, to no access, to English speaking people. It is no wonder that speaking and listening to English is difficult for them, much less teaching English to others!

HISTORY

We first applied in 2006 and were in awe of China and her people and knew we would return again in 2007.

In 2008 I became a director, and now not only do I teach in the program, but I also recruit teachers for the program.

After learning about the program today, I hope you will consider applying to participate in this most extraordinary, educational experience.

WHO MAY APPLY:

Certified teachers currently teaching or recently retired

(ESL certification is not required but is a plus)

Teachers in good physical and mental health

Teachers open to new experiences and different cultural experiences
